

Carol Osnes, CEO

About

Carol Osnes knows how to make every woman look and feel her best.

With more than three decades of experience as a wardrobe and image consultant, Carol understands women want to look on trend without following fads. Her customized analysis incorporates color, body type and lifestyle, enabling women to build an integrated wardrobe that is flattering and easy to wear.

Carol specializes in helping the woman over 50 who is starting her next chapter - whether she's re-entering the workforce or changing careers, going through a divorce, starting a business, or experiencing a major weight change - and needs to re-imagine her image.

Through her own career, which ranged from Fortune 100 financial executive to ad agency creative producer, Carol learned first-hand how to build a wardrobe that is appropriate and attractive while maintaining her personal style.

Using a direct, honest, and collaborative approach, she helps clients capitalize upon their strengths, minimize their challenges, and express their individuality. Carol uses her expertise to advise women how to make wise purchases that will save time, money and forever solve the "I've got nothing to wear!" dilemma.
